About Us

Mary's River Lumber Co., America's leading producer of Western Red Cedar, manufactures a diverse line of cedar products, including paneling, siding, decking, boards, and fencing. Fully integrated mills in Philomath and Corvallis, Oregon, and Montesano, Washington use sawmill systems, planer-moulders, and dry kilns designed specifically for processing Red Cedar for optimum quality.

Mary's River Decking is truly the natural choice. Our solid-sawn decking is made of Western Red Cedar, which makes a statement of quality and beauty for today's creatively designed decks and outdoor applications.

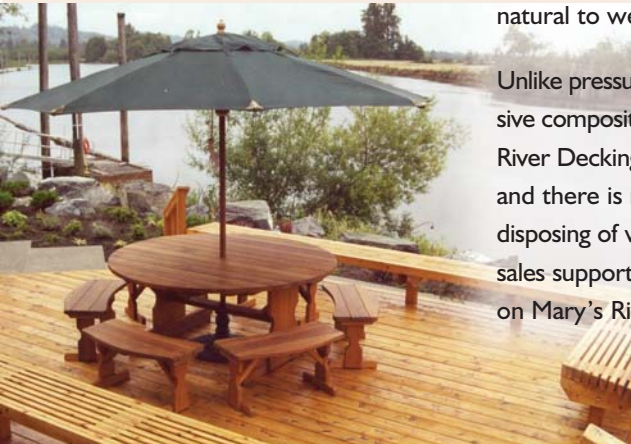

Achieving the Mary's River standard in grade, quality, outstanding appearance, and length assortment begins by selecting tight-knot, second-growth timber. Logs are milled into rough cants, which are then optimized for high-quality decking products.

The characteristics that make Western Red Cedar the preferred material for decking are its appearance, stability, durability, and weather resistance. With minimum tendency to shrink, swell, cup, twist or warp, even under the most extreme weather conditions, Red Cedar is twice as stable as other softwood species. Its natural oils are resistant to insects and decay, which eliminates the hazards of chemical preservatives used with other wood sources.

Mary's River Red Cedar Decking has excellent workability. Its soft texture enables clean cuts and takes nailing and deck screws with no splitting or predrilling. It may be finished with an oil stain to maintain its appearance or left natural to weather to a soft patina.

Unlike pressure treated wood or expensive composite wood substitutes, Mary's River Decking is an all-natural product and there is no hazard in handling or disposing of waste or sawdust. Call our sales support for complete information on Mary's River Red Cedar Decking.

Mary's River Decking, finished with an oil-based stain, makes a warm and inviting environment for outdoor living.
